

Further deregulation of the FCC rules allowing additional holdings of the larger Media companies is not in the best interests of the American public.

Too much concentrated ownership permits undesirable control of public access to varied views of a given news item. News reporting diversity will be less and less.

I am stating my opinion as a voting American citizen.